ENOS FAMILY TREE

ENOS FAMILY IN AMERICA

James Enno or Eno, the immigrant to the New World and founder of the Eno family in America, was baptized 8/21/1625, in London England, at the Threadneedle Church. The Threadneedle Street Church was a church for French Protestants or Huguenots who had fled France due to religious persecutions in the 15th, or 16th and 17th centuries. James was given the baptismal name of Jacques which is the French name for James. His father's name was given in the record as Jean Hennot or (John Hennot). Extracts from documents relating to the Huguenot immigration of the 16th and 17th Centuries in the British Museum contain the record that Jacques Hennot left London for North America, which fits perfectly with the records available for James Enno (or Eno) of Windsor, CT.

In 1648 James Enno purchased a house in Windsor that was occupied by direct Eno decedents as late as 1859. James married Anna Bidwell, the widow of Richard Bidwell.

Anna died in 1658 and James married the widow Elizabeth Holcomb in 1658. Elizabeth was the mother of Benajah and grandmother of Abigail Bissell, both of whom married children of James Enno by his first wife, Anna. In 1680 James married Hester Eggleston, widow of James Eggleston.

James Eno, Jr. was born to James and Anna Bidwell Egos on 10/20/1651. He married his step-sister's daughter, Abigail Bissell, on 12/2/1678.

James Eno III was born to James and Abigail Bissell on 9/23/1679. He married (1) Mary Grant and (2) Hannah Phelps. Benjamin Egos was born to James and Hannah on 10/5/1719.

In January 1741 Benjamin married Jerusha (Griswold) Pinney, the widow of Joseph Pinney. Jerusha was born 4/19/1714. Besides her eight Enos children, Jerusha also had four Pinney children, one of whom, John Pinney (1736-1816), resided in the Windsor area and three of his children, Salome, Erastus, and Nathaniel, married into the Eno family.

James Enos was born to Benjamin and Jerusha Egos in Windsor, CT on 6/17/1743. On 10/18/1764 he married Silence Sessions in Union, CT.

Erasmus Enos was the first born of eight children of James and Silence Enos. He was born in Union, CT 4/8/1765. He married Anna Griswold 3/18/1784. They had one child recorded in Windsor after which they moved to New York State. He appears on the 1800 Census of Bloomfield, Ontario County, NY. In 1804, Erasmus moved to Lewiston, Niagara County, NY and he purchased land in that township that year. An E. Enos appears on the 1810 Census of Cambria Township, Genesee County, NY. (Cambria Township in 1810 encompassed all of that land that is now known as Niagara County, NY.) Erasmus died 12/29/1812 in Buffalo, NY. Ann survived and was living in 1849, age 83 years in Cattaraugus, NY. Erasmus and Anna had only one known child and one other child is thought to be theirs. They likely had other children.

The other child who is thought to be theirs is Nathaniel Enos. This information is from the book, ENO AND ENOS FAMILY IN AMERICA by Douglas Richardson, published in 1973. Mr. Richardson has nothing but circumstantial evidence to cause him to assign Nathaniel to this family. I would like to prove his theory but I just don't know how to go about it.

The Earliest information we have been able to find on the Enos family is that Nathaniel C. Enos was born in the State of New York, probably in 1789. He died on May 28, 1871 at age 82 and is buried in the Quaker Hill Cemetery in Warren County, Pennsylvania.

Nathaniel Enos was a private in Captain McFarland's Company, 22nd Regt. U.S. Infantry during the war of 1812. He enlisted at Erie, PA. for five years. He was discharged June 19, 1815 at Pittsfield, on surgeon's certificate.

He was wounded on May 27, 1813 at Fort George, Upper Canada. He was hit by a musket or rifle ball in the right hip, fracturing his femur and partially depriving him of the use of his leg. He was discharged June 19, 1815, at Pittsfield, on surgeon's certificate. At that time he was awarded a 3/5 disability pension of $4.80 per month. Total disability was requested on December 9, 1837. A letter with the request stated that he was a poor man with a large family to support. He stated that he had moved to Pennsylvania because of the high price of land in New York.

He had dark hair, blue eyes, dark complexion and was five feet five and one half inches tall.

Warrant #8629 was for 160 acres of bounty land in Fulton County, IL. In March 2, 1894 Fannie Enos Van Wink, a "personal heir of the estate" of Cottonwood, Idaho wrote to the land office concerning said grant. She could not find the deed or locate the land. I do not know how Fannie was related to Nathaniel as this letter is only record of her existence that I have found. Nathaniel died interstate and according to probate records Mary Jones, Ann Morrison and Abram Enos survived.

Sarah, the wife of Nathaniel Enos, was born in Canada, probably in 1800. She died in 1867 at age 67 and is buried in the Quaker Hill Cemetery in Warren County, Pennsylvania.

In 1834 Nathaniel and Sarah Enos bought ninety four acres on Quaker Hill from Thomas and Elizabeth Pound. According to a history of Russell written in 1916, they had five sons in the Civil War.

1. Abram Enos:(B) 7/10/1834
2. Nathaniel Enos
3. John P. Enos
4. Ephriam Enos
5. Petram Enos

The above mentioned Mary Jones and Ann Morrison must have been daughters of this couple. There were probably other children also, but I have found no record of them thus far.

[Reproduced in 1974 through the sponsorship of the Warren County Historical Society. Page 507]

Nathaniel Enos formerly lived in Niagara County, NY, and settled on the Shuler place in this township (Elk) about 1830 or 1831. He built a log house and found it convenient to occupy it before he finished his fireplace. One winter's night a panther leaped onto the roof and peered through the hole left for the chimney. The tracks were examined by the neighbors next morning. After a few years Mr. Enos moved to near Clendennings; of his large family only one son, Abraham, who lives on the old place, is now in town, the others being scattered or deceased. Mr. Enos was a man of decided individuality.

ENOS RECORD IN THE CIVIL WAR

John P. Enos was 18 years old at the time of the 1850 Census so he was probably born in 1832. He married Sibli Casort October 26, 1853 in the Town of Carroll, Chautauqua County, NY. Their children were John Edward, Silas Francis, Roxanna Matilda.

He enrolled at Waterford, PA on September 5, 1864 and served in Company G, 211th Regt. of the Pennsylvania Volunteers. In a letter dated April 22, 1865, C.W. Stone reported that John Enos had been killed in the capture of Petersburg and Richmond. He died April 1865.

Abram A. Enos was born July 10, 1834 on Quaker Hill in Warren County. He was married and had a daughter, Sarah Jane who was known as Jennie. On November 8, 1857 he married Elizabeth (Betsy) Bull and they had nine children.

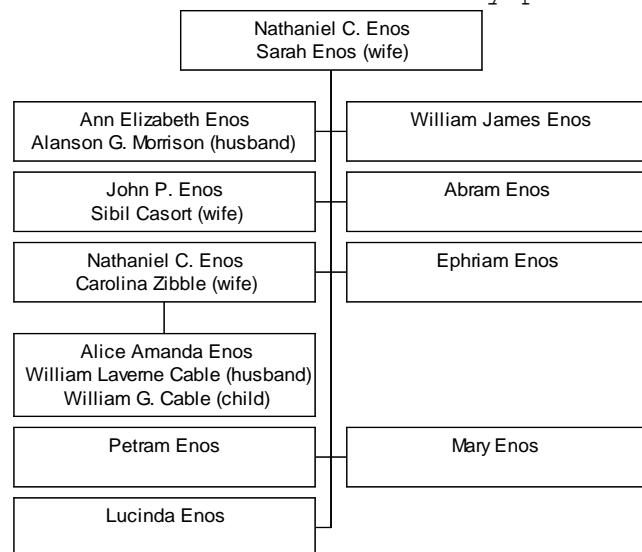

He served with Company F, 151st Regt. Vol. Infantry, PA from September 20, 1862 to July 27, 1863. He enrolled at Busti and served with the New York Artillery Volunteers; Private in Company D, 13th Regt. in 1864 - 1865. He was injured at Bull Run and Gettysburg and had Typhoid fever while he was in the Army.

Nathaniel C. Enos was born in 1838 (at least he was 12 years old at the time of the 1850 census). He married Carolina Zibble on December 4, 1858. They had a daughter Alice Amanda.

He enrolled as a Private in Company K, 113th Regt. (12th Cavalry) at Philadelphia, PA on January 16, 1862. He reenlisted at Martinsburg, VA February 1, 1864. He was killed in action near Hamiltonville, VA on March 22, 1865.

Ephriam Enos was six years old at the time of the 1850 Census so was probably born in 1844. He was wounded at the Battle of the Wilderness and died in Washington, D.C. on May 12, 1864. He was one of the first soldiers to be buried at Arlington National Cemetery. He is buried in Section 27, Grave 38 of Arlington National Cemetery. He was a Private in Company H, 39th Regiment from PA.

Petram Enos is our mystery man. I have not found him on Census records. In the Warren Observer it was stated that he was never heard from after the Battle of Gettysburg. [Schenclllk, J.S. (edited by) History of Warren County Pennsylvania. D. Mason & Company, Publishers. Syracuse, NY. 1887.] According to family sources and the Thornton history of Russell cited before, Petram also served during the Civil War. Richard Enos says he thinks that Petram died at Antietam. Thus far we have been unable to find any proof of his existence.

Vain Enos' daughter Berdena Roberts found a will of Nathaniels' written in 1857 in which he stated his son William James was buried in the family burial ground and he wanted to be buried there to. In the national archives we had gotten a letter from Fanny Van Winkle inquiring about Nathaniels' bounty land as she a "personal Heir" of Nathaniel. Fanny's granddaughter lives in Oregon and has worked on her family history, but could not find any information about her great-grandfather William Enos who was in Missouri in 1945. They must be one and the same.

Daniel H. Enos, son of Louis and Diane Enos of Russell RD 1. was pronounced dead on arrival at a Jamestown, NY Hospital.

State police said the boy was playing on the banks of the pond when he fell from the bank. His twin brother, David, reportedly attempted to rescue him but was unsuccessful.

GIRL DEAD, FRIEND FOUND ILL IN ROOM GAS FUMES BELIEVED TO BE RESPONSIBLE

OLEAN - Jan. 5 - Plans of two vicinity girls who expected to start new jobs in this city today resulted tragically when they were found unconscious this morning in the room they had rented last night, one of them failing to regain consciousness.

Dead is Virginia Champlin, about nineteen, Richburg, RFD, who failed to respond to inhalator treatment by city firemen, and later, application of the St. Francis Hospital "iron lung." Her companion, Dorothy Logue, Franklinville, is still in critical condition in the sam hospital.

Coroner C.J. Hosmer, who is investigating, said the death of the Champlin girl was apparently caused by carbon monoxide poisoning. He said that he will withhold the death certificate, pending change in the condition of Miss Logue, in hope that she may be able to supply additional information.

Patrolman George F. Wilson, who answered the call to the rooming quarters of Mrs. Louella Voorhees at 319 ½ North Union Street, said that both girls were found in bed in an unconscious state. The door and window of the third floor were closed and a gas heater was burning brightly, temperature in the room being high at the time he entered, Wilson said.

The landlady told police that the girls engaged the room last night, telling her that they had new jobs in the city today. She said that she was asked to awaked them at 8:30 a.m. today. When her knocking failed to arouse the girls, Mrs. Voorhees entered the room by use if a pass key and found Miss Champlin unconscious and Miss Logue in a semi-conscious condition. She summoned police.

Miss Champlin resided near Richburg. She leaves her father, a sister, and a brother. (Special to the Courier-Express, Tuesday, January 6, 1942)

JAMES R. LANANGER

AGE 8, DIES UNDER WHEELS OF LARGE TRACTOR TRAILER
1945-1953

COUDERSPORT - A Millport boy, eight years old was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a commercial trailer about 10:30 a.m. Monday morning. The mishap occurred on a bridge in Millport a hundred feet or so from the child's home.

The victim was James Richard Lananger, fourth of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lananger. He was a second grade pupil in the Millport school.

The family had moved to Millport three months ago from Allegany. Mr. Lananger is employed in Olean. Mrs. Lananger is the former Mary E. Champlin of Bolivar.

Driver of the truck-trailer was Donald Sick, 40, of 2033 Mill Lane, Williamsport, PA. The equipment was owned by the Mushroom Trucking Company of Philadelphia.

Mr. Sick was enroute to Olean on Route 44 when he struck and ran over the boy on a span over the Oswayo. He was held blameless by Coroner Earl A. Brown and State Police of Coudersport Barrack. The Coroner returned a verdict of accidental death.

The truck driver told investigating officers that the child darted from the left side of the bridge into the path of the heavy vehicle carrying an eight-ton load. He said he had seen him walking along the left side of the bridge a minute or two before. As the truck entered the bridge, the child broke into a run. "Before I knew it he was directly in front of the truck," the driver said.

Mr. Sick was traveling about 25 miles per hour. He stopped within 35 or 40 feet, the Coroner and police said.

Death was instantaneous, as far as could be learned. One of the first to reach the scene was the child's mother. She said she heard somebody yell upon the bridge from her home at the north end of the span. She went up the path leading from the stream to the roadway and saw the body of her son, she told the deputy Coroner.

The shout she reported hearing was a warning by Mr. Sick to an oil truck following him. Mr. Sick told the Coroner he had stopped his own truck and seeing the other vehicle entering the bridge, he feared the driver hadn't seen the body and would run over it.

The driver of the oil truck was identified as a Roulette man. He stopped the truck in time to keep from striking the child's body.

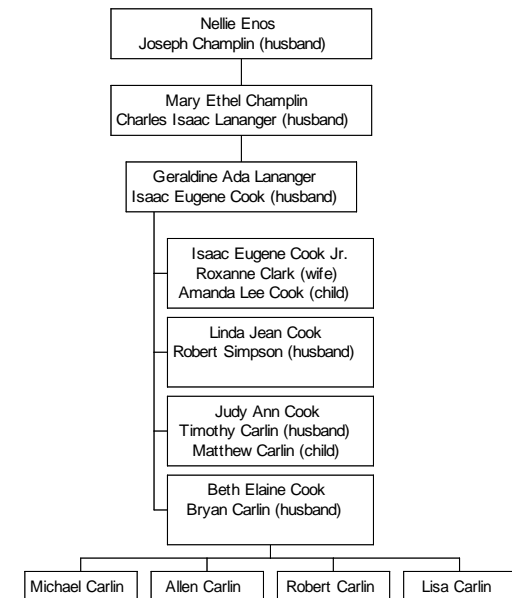

Mr. Lananger, who is employed by the Allied Bitmans of Olean, was notified of the accident immediately. A relative drove to Olean and got him.

Shortly before the accident, the victim was playing with Jerry Hyde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hyde. The Hydys live near the scene of the accident on the other side of Route 44. He is believed to have been going back home when he was killed.

Many of the neighborhood children play on and around the bridge, Millport residents in the vicinity told Coroner Brown. An unidentified child narrowly escaped being hit the day before on the bridge, the Coroner learned last night.

The Lananger boy's body was removed in a Shinglehouse ambulance and taken later to Loop Funeral Home, Bolivar, where funeral services will be held at 2 p.m., Wednesday (July 22, 1953).

Burial will be at Maple Lawn Cemetery, Bolivar.

ARLENE E. BRANSTROM

rites planned for victim of drowning

Services in memory of Mrs. Arlene E. Branstrom, 49, wife of Edwin F. Branstrom, Russell, who drowned in Conewango creek at the Akeley bridge some time Wednesday afternoon, will be held from the Russell Methodist church at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Philip W. Schlick, of Akeley, and Rev. R.B. Naylor, Jamestown, NY. Interment will be in Pine Grove cemetery. Friends may call at the Peterson funeral home at the usual hours until Saturday noon when removal will be made to the church.

The body of Mrs. Branstrom was discovered floating on the surface of Conewango creek Wednesday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock by her husband and son Donald, who had launched a search for her, after she started on a drive in the latter's car, earlier in the afternoon. The machine was parked on the west approach of the Akeley bridge. An eyewitness, Gaylord Hayward, stated that he had observed the woman shortly after one o'clock, leave the car, and a few moments later she was over the bank, and he surmised she was picking berries. Relatives informed officials she had been in ill health for about a year.

Mrs. Branstrom was born March 11, 1898, at Akeley, daughter of Fred and Elizabeth Cox Enos. She had been a resident of the community all her life, and was a member of the Russell Methodist church and the Ladies' Aid Society. Besides the husband she is survived by the following children: Robert E., Mary Elizabeth and Walter G., all of Russell, and Donald F. Branstrom, Ann Arbor, MI. A grandson and one brother, Richard H. Enos, also survive.

1. Jeffrey Champlin [Jeffrey (1)]

Jeffrey Champlin, the immigrant and progenitor of the Champlin name in America, is believed to have been born at, or near, Bideford (Devonshire) England circa 1621. While this date is unsubstantiated it is likely to be a fairly accurate approximation as Jeffrey's children were born in the 1650's and he died at Westerly, Rhode Island sometime between 1688 and 1695.

He is believed to have been buried with his son William in the family cemetery located on William's farm. This burial ground is known today as the Westerly Historical Cemetery #03 and/or the Wilcox Lot. The long abandoned cemetery is located in the midst of a tangled stand of bull briars along the south side of Shore Road between Westerly and Dunn's Corners. On May 5, 1995 I located this burial ground. There were many small unmarked stones scattered throughout the all but impenetrable bull briars, which made it impossible to get near most of them at that time of year. William's stone, which was made of shale, was found and a faint inscription was still readable. Other stones bore even fainter inscriptions and were usually surrounded by several other stones that appeared to be nothing more than odd shaped rocks jutting out of the ground.

During the American Revolution, many of the early vital records of Rhode Island were destroyed by fire. Other records were removed by the British and sent to New York for safe keeping. The ship that was used to transport these records sank in New York harbor before its cargo could be unloaded. Eventually, some of these vital records were recovered but most were no longer readable.

The last known recorded mention of Jeffrey during his lifetime was made in 1688. In 1695, his eldest son (Jeffrey) refers to his father in a document confirming a deed by saying: "Know all men by these presents that I, Jeffrey Champlin of Kingstown do own and acknowledge that my brother William Champlin and Brother Christopher Champlin have full power to dispose of that house and hundred akers of land which was my dissesed father's - - which Lyes in westerle for acknowledgement hereunto I have set my hand in the yeare 1695, December ye 6th".

It is not known how Jeffrey came to the New World (or when), but there are reports that he was in Boston as early as 1627. The first white settlement on Aquidneck was established in March of 1638 on the north end of that island. The settlement was called "Pocasset" until 1640 when it was renamed "Portsmouth" - the name it retains to this day.

Pocasset was founded by Anne Hutchinson and her small group of religious libertarians. They had met in the Boston home of prominent merchant William Coddington on March 7, 1638. The members of this small group was greatly at odds with and frequently harassed by Massachusetts' ruling Puritans. Hutchinson's group called themselves the "Bodie Politick" and drew up a compact in much the same way as did the Mayflower passengers. Their sworn agreement read as follows:

"We, whose names are underwritten, do here solomly, in the presence of Jehovah, incorporate ourselves into a Bodie Politick, and as He shall help, will submit ourselves, lives and estates unto our Lord Jesus Christ, the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, and to all those perfect and most absolute laws of His given to us in His Holy Word of truth, "to be guided and judged thereby."

This compact was signed by Anne & William Hutchinson, William Coddington, Henry Bull, John Clarke, John Coggeshall, William Aspinwall, William Dyer, Nicholas Easton, (an illegible name), William Baulstone, John Sanford, Philip Sherman, John Walker, Samuel Wilbour, Richard Carder and William Freeborn. Coddington purchased the island of Aquidneck from the Indians and the group founded Pocasset in April of 1638. The following, taken from the records of that colony, show that Jeffrey was likely there from the very beginning: "On the 28th of the 2nd month 1639 Upon the complainte of Jeffrey Champlin in the behalfe of a debt due to William Cowly and himselfe from Mr. Aspinwall, warrent was granted forth, for the attachment of his shallopp till both that debt and other actions of the case be satisfied and discharged by him". (Note: under the Julian Calendar in use at the time. the 2nd month was April and 1639 would have been 1638 today).

The Pocasset Colony quickly became a successful agricultural venture but lacked a deep water port from which to ship excess produce. In addition, a power struggle between Coddington and Hutchinson, based on religious interpretations and applications to daily life, developed soon after the settlement began. Coddington had been a wealthy man in Boston and among the religious leaders there and had been a member of the Boston Court which had expelled Roger Williams. Williams described Coddington as a "worldly man" who was more concerned about his own profit and power. Coddington would later become a Quaker.

Due to the need to have a deep water port and because of religious and political difference, Coddington and his supporters (John Clarke, Nicholas Easton, John Coggeshall, William Brenton, Jeremy Clarke, Thomas Hazard, Jeffrey Champlin, Henry Bull, William Dyer and Robert Jeffries) left Pocasset and migrated to the southern end of Aquidneck Island, establishing a new colony which became known as Newport. By the end of the year, 93 people were resident there.

Jeffrey was registered as an inhabitant of Newport on November 24, 1639, was made a Freeman there on September 14, 1640 and granted 10 acres of land. That same year, the Pocasset and Newport settlements united upon the libertarian rules of Pocasset and William Coddington was made the Colony's first governor. His name also appears on the roll of Freeman in 1641 and 1655.

At Newport, Jeffrey engaged in the buying and selling of property and was thought to have become a cordwainer. Cordwainers were leather workers who made use of cordovan (a soft, colored leather usually made of sheep, goat or dog skin, or split horse hide) to design and make custom made shoes. This was considered to be a pre-eminent profession in those days.

In the "Colonial and Land Records" the following account of Jeffrey's acquisition of land is given "Whereas, according to certain orders, made for the Establishing and giving Assurance of the Land, Be it known, Therefore that Geoffrey Champlin and Richard Sarle, having exhibited their acquaintances, under the Treasurer's hand, of Newport, wherein appears fully satisfaction to be given, for the number of twenty Acres of Land, Lying within the precincts of such bounds as the Committee, by Order appointed, did bound it withal, together with ten acres apiece given and granted to them gratis, by the Towne, for and in consideration of Service done by them, which number, together with the former, amounting to Forty acres, is thus laid forth. Four acres apiece for homelots, lying in the Towne, and six acres apiece, lying next to William Cowly's land and adjoined upon Thomas Hazard's land, a highway passing there-through, with half a Cow's hay in harbour Marsh lying at the first Entrance, and three acres of Marsh, lying at Sachnet, next the falls, Mr. Smith's Marsh, lying on the South East side thereof, with, another parcel of Sixteen acres, more less, lying...." (remainder of entry missing - possibly burned).

Soon after the granting of this land in 1640, Jeffrey bought out the portions belonging to Richard Searle and William Cowley and sold both to Henry Bull: "Memorandum that Geoffrey Champlin of Newport, having bought and purchased of Wm Cowley and Richard Sarle their pts and ptions of land in that feeld that lay between ye Land granted to Thomas Hazard and Edward Robinson at ye South end of ye Towne, and ye sd Geoffrey had made over and soald unto Henry Bull of ye saide Towne, for a valowable consideration given and received, whereon ye sd Geoffrey doth disclaime all interest in ye sd Land and doth acknowledge full propriety to belong to Henry Bull, his heires, executors, administrators and assignee to ye world's end". This transfer took place late in 1644.

Jeffrey purchased twenty acres located on the east side of Robert Griffin's property from Adam Mott, Sr. in 1646. He sold ten acres "adjoining his house lot" (Newport) to William Brenton of Boston in 1657. He was a witness to the sale of some property by Roger Williams to Richard Smith:

Newport the 3d of ye 7th month Soe called 1651

This writeing testifieth that I, Rog'r Williams of Providence, for and in Consideration of fifty pounds already received have Sould and Demised unto mr. Rich'd Smith of portsmouth on Road Island, his heires & assignee for ever, my tradeing house at Narragansett, together with two Iron Guns or murderers, there Lyeing as alsoe my fields & fenceing aboute the s'd House, is alsoe the use of the litle Lisland for goates which the old Sachem, deceased, Lent mee for that use, for confirmation of all which I Sett my hand & Seale ye daye and yeare aforesaid.

Jeffere Champlain

William Holmes

While in Newport, Jeffrey married. Again, the destruction of vital records has prevented us from knowing the date of this union or the certain identity of his wife - although it is believed that her name was Eulalia Vladi Garde, daughter of John Garde and Rebecca Copp. She was baptized on February 5, 1632 (or 1623, depending on source) at Bideford, England and died sometime around 1656 or 1657 as references to her dowry cease as of this time in Jeffrey's various legal documents. It is believed by some (notably, Champlin genealogist William J. Hunter of Ottawa, Ontario) that Jeffrey may even have been married twice and that the marriage to Eulalia was Jeffrey's second.

According to Hunter, Jeffrey would have had to have served as an apprentice shoemaker in England before coming to the New World as there were no shoemakers among the early Rhode Island settlers for him to apprentice under. He probably married his first wife in England as there is no mention of his marrying in Rhode Island, and the laws being what they were, he would not have been granted as large an amount of land in Newport in 1640 as he did if he wasn't already married. His home lot occupied the block along the south side of Mary Street, from Spring Street west to Water Street and south to the waterfront.

Whoever she was, Jeffrey's first wife must have died prior to 1650 as she would have been rather old (for that era) and married too long to suddenly start bearing children in the 1650's. Thus, Jeffrey probably married for a second time around 1649-1650 with his second wife (presumably Eulalia) being the mother of his three sons. Both wives may have been members of the Garde family. This certainly was true of Jeffrey's brother, William Champlin. William, who never came to the New World, married sisters Rebecca (in 1641) and Mary Garde - daughters of Roger Garde of Bideford.

John Garde (son of Roger) migrated from Bideford to Fayal (Azores) and then to Rhode Island by 1638. He and Jeffrey owned land in the Pocasset area and when John Garde (1604-1665) and his wife Rebecca "Harte" Copp (born 1605) died, they were buried on Jeffrey's farm at Newport. Many years later, their bodies were removed and interred in the Newport City Cemetery by Jeffrey's youngest son, Christopher. John and Harte (-?-) Garde had a daughter, Charlotte, born in 1626. She may have been the second wife of Jeffrey Champlin. It should be pointed out that the name "Eulalia" is of Portuguese origin.

Jeffrey had three known children, all born at Newport:

- 03. Jeffrey (1650)
- 05. William (1654)
- 07. Christopher (1656)

In 1661, Jeffrey migrated to the region of Misquamicut along the Pawcatuck River (in the western part of what is modern day Rhode Island) with another group of dissatisfied settlers comprising 24 other families. There, they founded the town of Westerly - Jeffrey signing a document which purchased Misquarnicut from Chief Socoa in 1661. About 75 people signed this document but only a few actually removed to what was to become Westerly. He took the oath of allegiance to Rhode Island on May 17, 1671 and three days later he was fined 20 shillings for refusing jury duty.

Jeffrey was elected to the Westerly Town Council in 1680 and was Moderator of the Westerly Town Meetings from 1680-1684. He was Deputy in the Rhode Island Assembly from 1681-1686. In 1685, Jeffrey was assigned to survey highways.

By 1669, Jeffrey had sold all of his properties in Newport -the last seeming to be a 40 acre tract (which included his home lot and dwelling) that was purchased by Walter Clarke. In the deed of transfer, Jeffrey was called a shoemaker.

In 1675-76, during King Phillip's War, Jeffrey sought refuge in Newport, returning to Westerly after the defeat of the Pequots in 1677.

Note: While commonly referred to as "Rhode Island" the actual name of the smallest of the 50 states is: RHODE ISLAND AND THE PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS. It is comprised, for the most part, of an inverted horseshoe shaped mainland in the middle of which lies a large island known as Rhode Island. Aquidneck was the original name for RHODE ISLAND (the island) and the PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS referred to those mainland colonies or "plantations" which were founded by Roger Williams (Providence), Samuel Gorton (Shawumet) and William Arnold (Pawtucket).

Many people contend that Jeffrey Champlin was a descendent of the French explorer Samuel de Champlain. The only relationship between the two is the similarity in the spellings of their respective surnames. Samuel de Champlain's original surname was Complain - not Champlain. He was the son of Anthonie de Complair and Marguerite LeRoy. To make matters worse for those who claim him as an ancestor, Samuel had no children! In 1610, Samuel married Helene Boulle who was 31 years his junior. Born at Paris, France in 1598 Helene was only 12 years old when she and Samuel married. Marriages to 12 year old girls were legal at that time, but actual co-habitation was not permitted for another two years. Samuel and Helene probably never consummated their marriage as he sailed for Quebec shortly after the marriage and founded the settlement of Place Royal (Montreal) in 1611. In 1620, Helene also sailed for Quebec and resided with her brother at Tadousac (located on the north west bank of the meeting place of the St. Lawrence and Saquenay Rivers) for four years. She then returned to France, became a nun and eventually founded an order of nuns.

492. ANNE (MARBURY) HUTCHINSON

Anne Marbury, daughter of Reverend Francis Marbury and Bridget Dryden, was born at Alford, Lincolnshire, England and baptized there on July 20, 1591. She was murdered by a band of Indians in the summer of 1643 at Pelham Bay (Long Island) New York.

Francis Marbury was known for his Puritan leanings and more than once received the censure of the Established Church. Bridget Dryden was his second wife and the daughter of John Dryden of Canon's Ashby in Northamptonshire. In 1605 the family moved to London. Anne was exposed from birth to religious discussions of the time and no doubt absorbed many of her father's liberal beliefs.

On August 9, 1612 Anne married Thomas Hutchinson, son of a wealthy merchant, and went to his home in Alford to live. There she spent the next 22 years and bore her husband 14 children. In 1633 their eldest child, Edward, emigrated to Massachusetts Bay with John Cotton, previously vicar of St. Botolph's in old Boston, whose preaching had inclined Anne Hutchinson to attend his church. The following year, with her husband and family, she emigrated to Massachusetts on the Griffin, arriving in September. In the new colony she won respect for her vigorous intellect and was loved for her kindness. She was a thorough student of the Bible and soon her restless and inquiring mind led her to take a strong part in the religious life of the colony. At first she held informal meetings of women in her home and would discuss the sermons of the previous Sunday. She then ventured to expound her own religious beliefs and advocated the preaching of a "covenant of grace" - a religion based upon the individual's direct intuition of God's own doctrine soon stirred the colony to its foundations. She was labeled an antinomian by her opponents and was accused of advocating a religion which absolved its adherents from obedience to moral law.

At first the Reverend John Cotton agreed with her views as did her brother-in-law, the Reverend John Wheelwright and Reverend Henry Vane, but in time her support diminished. Early in August 1637 Vane sailed for England. Shortly afterward a synod of the churches was called in which her views were denounced. Cotton acquiesced to the pronouncements of the synod, leaving Wheelwright her strongest ally. In the following session of the General Court Wheelwright was banished and Anne Hutchinson was summoned to trial "for traducing the ministers and their ministry."

After the proceedings, which were a legal travesty, she was sentenced to banishment. When asked on what grounds, the governor, John Winthrop replied: "Say no more. The Court knows wherefore and is satisfied." Sentence of banishment was stayed - it was then winter and her health was delicate - and Anne was committed to the charge of Joseph Weld of Roxbury, the marshal. She was later placed in the home of John Cotton in Boston, where Cotton and the Reverend John Davenport attempted to convince her of her errors.

Twice brought before the church at Boston, she was at length induced to recant in public, but when she finally admitted that her judgement remained unaltered, she was accused of lying and was formally excommunicated. In casting her out of the church John Wilson delivered her up to Satan and ordered her "as a leper" to withdraw herself from the congregation.

Thus, in the early spring of 1638 she emigrated with her family to the wilds of Rhode Island where she and her small band of religious libertarians founded the first white colony on Aquidneck Island. They had met in the Boston home of prominent merchant William Coddington on March 7, 1638. This small group were greatly at odds with and frequently harassed by Massachusetts' ruling Puritans. Hutchinson's group calling themselves the "Bodie Politick", drew up a compact in much the same way as did the Mayflower passengers. Their sworn agreement read as follows:

"We, whose names are underwritten, do here solomly, in the presence of Jehovah, incorporate ourselves into a Bodie Politick, and as He shall help, will submit ourselves, lives and estates unto our Lord Jesus Christ, the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, and to all those perfect and most absolute laws of His given to us in His Holy Word of truth, to be guided and judged thereby".

This compact was signed by: Anne & William Hutchinson, William Coddington, Henry Bull, John Clarke, John Coggeshall, William Aspinwall, William Dyer, Nicholas Easton, (an illegible name), William Baulstone, John Sanford, Philip Sherman, John Walker, Samuel Wilbour, Richard Carder and William Freeborn.

Coddington purchased the island of Aquidneck ("Peaceable island") from Miantonomah and Canonicus, two Sachems of the Narragansetts for 40 fathoms of white beads, 10 coats and 20 hoes. The group, which included Anne, her husband, their 13 children and 60 other people, founded the town of Pocasset in April of 1638. The modern day name of "Portsmouth" was given the settlement a year later.

In 1642 William Hutchinson died and Anne removed with some of her family to Long Island, later establishing a home on the mainland, on the shore of Pelham Bay. Here, in August or September of 1643, she and all but one of her household were murdered by a group of Mohegans. Her youngest daughter, Susannah, who was born in 1633, was carried off by these murderers and later ransomed by the Dutch. Susannah Hutchinson eventually married John Cole at Boston in 1651. They were the grandparents of Susannah Cole Eldred - first wife of Jeffrey Champlin's grandson, Jeffrey Champlin III.

- 1696: - elected Justice of the Peace serving until 1713
- 1699: - one of six men (three from each colony) appointed to draw up the Connecticut - Rhode Island boundary line
- 1703: - his home was designated as a recruiting station at the Council of War held at Kingstown
- 1709: - At a Town Meeting held on April 7th, William was "voted to have the grant of 100 acres" of land and was empowered to agree with Ninecraft, sachem, for "a perpetual high road to the salt water from Queen's Rhoad".

In 1674, William married Mary Babcock. Mary, daughter of James and Sarah (-?-) Babcock, was born at Portsmouth, Rhode Island c/1648-1655 and died at Westerly in the spring of 1747 leaving an estate worth 508.13 pounds. There are references in the literature that she was William's second wife but this is unsubstantiated and the name of his alleged first wife is unknown.

William and Mary had three children, all born at Westerly:
200. Mary (1675)

157. William (1677) Newport, RI (D) 1746 Westerly, RI
201. Ann (1678)

James Babcock was born in 1612, probably in Essex County, England, and died on June 12, 1679. He married (1st) Sarah (-?-) who died in c1665 and (2nd) Elizabeth (-?-) in 1669. He was admitted an inhabitant of Portsmouth, Rhode Island on February 25, 1642 and removed to Westerly in March of 1662.

On July 6, 1682 William Champlin of Westerly sold the sloop "Tryall" to James Robertson of the Barbadoes. The "Tryall" was built by John Lewis of New London, shipwright, and weighed 18-19 tons.

157. WILLIAM CHAMPLIN [Jeffrey (1), William (2-3)]

William Champlin, son of William Champlin and Mary Babcock, was born at Newport, Rhode Island in 1677 and died at Westerly, Rhode Island in 1746.

He was made a "freeman" of Westerly in 1700 and on June 25, 1707 was chosen "Rattemaker" (tax assessor). A large land owner who became wealthy through the buying and selling of various properties, William represented Westerly in the Rhode Island General Assembly in 1728, 1731 and 1732. He was appointed Justice of the Peace in May 1741 and again in May 1742.

On January 18, 1700, William was married to Mary Clarke of Westerly in a ceremony conducted by her father Justice Clarke. Mary, daughter of Joseph Clarke and Bethiah Hubbard, was born at Westerly on December 27, 1680 and died in 1760. On her mother's side Mary was the granddaughter of Samuel Hubbard and Tacy Cooper who were the founders of the Seventh Day Baptist Church in America. Mary's brother, Samuel Clarke, married both Ann Champlin and Susannah (Long) Champlin. Ann Champlin was William's sister and Susannah (Long) Champlin was the widow of Jeffrey Champlin [Jeffrey (1-2-3)].

Mary (Clarke) Champlin was baptized, and under laying on of hands was admitted into the Seventh Day Baptist Church on May 10, 1708.

William's Will, dated August 3, 1746 indicates that he gave several large tracts of land to his children prior to his death. He left nearly 3,000 pounds cash, various household articles, several farm animals, a Negro girl valued at 150 pounds and a 12 year old Indian girl valued at 40 pounds.

William and Mary (Clarke) Champlin had 7 children:

159. William (1702)
193. Jeffrey (1704)
195. Joseph (1706)
194. Samuel (1708)
196. Joshua (1710) Wed: Bridget Thomson
186. James (1712)
198. Susannah (1714)

Joseph Clarke (Mary's father) was born on April 2, 1643 (a disputed date) and died on January 11, 1827 - aged 83 years, 11 months. He was the son of Joseph and Margaret (-?-) Clarke. Joseph Clarke Sr. was born on December 9, 1618 and died June 1, 1694. He was a member of the Rhode Island General Assembly and the son of Thomas Clarke and Rose Herrige. In his Will (dated October 5, 1725 and proved at Westerly on February 27, 1727) Joseph left daughter Mary a bed, bedding and 5 pounds.

Bethiah Hubbard, daughter of Samuel Hubbard and Tacy Cooper was born at Springfield, Massachusetts on December 19, 1646 and died at Westerly, Rhode Island on April 17, 1707. She married Joseph Clarke on November 16, 1664 at Westerly. He was born a Newport, Rhode Island on February 11, 1642. After Bethiah's death, Joseph Clarke Jr. married (2nd) Hannah (Weeden) (Clarke) Peckham (1655-1723). Joseph was Hannah Weeden's third husband. She had been married (1st) to Joseph's brother, William Clarke (1647-1683) and (2nd) to Thomas Peckham (1646-1709).

Samuel Hubbard (1610-1689) was born at Mendlesham, England, the youngest son of James Hubbard and Naomi Cocke, and the grandson of Thomas Hubbard. He arrived at Salem, Massachusetts in October of 1633 - probably on board the "JAMES" which left England in August and arrived at Massachusetts Bay on October 10th.

Tacy Cooper (1608-1691) was born in England and was recorded as being at Dorchester, Massachusetts on June 9, 1634 but had removed to Windsor, Connecticut before 1636 as she and Samuel Hubbard were married there on January 4, 1636.

Samuel Hubbard said of himself: "I was born of good parents my mother brought me up in the fear of the Lord, in Mendlesham, in catechising me and hearing choice ministers,"... "I have a testament of my grandfather Cocke's, printed in 1549, which he hid in his bedstraw, lest it should be found and burned in Queen Mary's days." By 1634 Samuel had left Salem for Watertown, Massachusetts, where in 1635 he joined the church "by giving account of my faith." He was at Windsor, Connecticut in 1635 and then Wethersfield by 1636 or 1637. On May 10, 1639 he went to Springfield where he soon became one of the founders of a church, consisting of five men, and "my wife soon after added". From there he went to Fairfield Connecticut where on May 10, 1647 his religious fervor created difficulties for hire. He wrote: "God, having enlightened both, but mostly my wife, into his holy ordinances of baptizing only of visible believers, and being very zealous for it, she was mostly struck at and answered two terms publicly, where I was also said to be as bad as she, and sore threatened with imprisonment to Hartford Jail, if not to renounce it, or to remove; that scripture came into our mouths, if they persecute you in one place, flee to another, and so we did, 2nd day of October, 1648, we went for Rhode Island and arrived there the 12th day. I and my wife, upon our manifestation of our faith, were baptised by brother Josephe Clarke 3rd day of November, 1648."

On August 7, 1651 he was sent to visit some brethren who had been imprisoned at Boston, and in 1657 he went with John Holmes on a preaching tour on Long Island. In 1655, he was made freeman, and in 1664, on account of the disability of Lawrence Turner, Hubbard was to be General Solicitor. On March 10, 1665, he wrote in his diary: "my wife took up keeping of the Lord's holy seventh day Sabbath," and in April 1665: "I took it up..." Later: "Bethiah Feb 1666, and our son Joseph Clarke, 23 Feb 1666." On April 7, 1668 he went to Boston to hold a public dispute with members of the church there, and in July 1668, he wrote from Boston to his cousin, John Smith, of London, England: "Through God's great mercy, the Lord has given to me in this wilderness, a good, diligent, careful, painful and very loving wife: we, through mercy, live comfortabl praised be God, as co-heirs together of one mind in the Lord, travelling through this wilderness, to our heavenly son, knowing we are pilgrims, as our fathers were, and in good portion being content therewith. A good house, as with us judged, 25 acres of ground fenced, and four cows which give, one young heifer and three calves and a very good mare, a trade, a carpenter, and health to follow it, and my wife, very diligent and painful, praised be God."

There were differences between the observers of the "Seventh Day Sabbath" and the other members of the church and of a discussion of the subject in which he had participated, Hubbard wrote to his children at Westerly on December 16, 1672, that "it was a tumult." A few days later on the 23rd of December, with his wife and one daughter, and four other people, he formed the First Seventh Day Baptist Church in America.

196. JOSHUA CHAMPLIN
[Jeffrey (1), William (2-3), Joshua (4)]

Joshua Champlin, son of William Champlin and Mary Clarke, was born in 1710 at Westerly, Rhode Island and died at Beekman, New York c1790.

He was the first Champlin to settle in New York State, having migrated from Westerly to Beekman (Dutchess County) in the 1730's, having been recorded as a witness there in 1737. He returned to Rhode Island around 1742 and was appointed to a committee which was to supervise repairs made to the Pawcatuck River Bridge which connects Westerly and Connecticut.

Joshua married Bridget Thompson on June 21, 1730 in a ceremony conducted by Reverend Ebenezer Rosseter in the First Congregational Church at Stonington, Connecticut. His brothers, Samuel and William married her sisters Prudence and Sarah. Bridget, daughter of Captain Isaac Thompson (1671-1738) and Mary Holmes (1676-1751), was baptized in Stonington's 1st Congregational Church on June 21, 1713 (the Thompson Nexus says she was born on October 14, 1711) and died sometime after 1790.

Joshua and Bridget had 10 children (wed 6/21/1730):

1343. Delight (1731) (D) 1755
591. Joshua (1731)
1593. Bridget (1732)
1594. William (1734)
1595. Elisha (1736)
562. Thomas (1738)
8311. Patience () (D) 1755
1596. Delight (1755) (D) 3/13/1840 Bath, NY
577 James Rogers (1758)
1597. Ann (1760)

Joshua had two daughters named Delight. The first married Amariah Stanton, had three children and had died by 1755 when the second Delight was born.

On August 30, 1747, Joshua witnessed the declaring of Peter Simson's Will which was later Proved before Bartholomew Cromwell, Esq. on November 2, 1747. In that Will, Joshua's name was spelled "Choplin".

He was taxed at Beekman from 1747-1778 with a 2 pound assessment from 1753-1767 and at a 1 pound assessment thereafter. He lived on a leased 200 acre farm by 1752 in Lot 7 (on the line of lots 7 and 8). The lease was in the name of Joshua, his wife Bridget and their son William. Colonel James Vanderburgh purchased this land from Henry Van Rensselaer on April 27, 1769.

Joshua was a member of Hopkinton (Rhode Island) Sabbatarian Church before 1750 and continued as a member until 1768. His wife was a member from before 1740 and remained so until 1768.

In May 1742, Joshua was made a Captain in the Third Regiment of King's County Militia, serving under Major Christopher Champlin [Jeffrey (I), Christopher (2-3-4)]. In May of 1743, he was made Captain of the First Westerly Company of King's County Militia. On June 3, 1745, Joshua was commissioned as a Captain in General Pepperell's Third Company. Pepperell's army was raised for the invasion of French Canada by the British Joshua and his brother, Jeffrey (who was a 2nd Lieutenant under him) arrived at the fortress of Louisbourg (Cape Breton) aboard the Brig "SUCCESS" on July 16, 1745 - too late for the battle. While anchored in the harbor there, an epidemic broke out among the troops on board and many died - including Jeffrey.

Joshua returned to Beekman in 1746 and continued his military career there. He was made a 1st Lieutenant on July 11, 1755 in Colonel Cockcroft's Regiment of Infantry which was raised in Poughkeepsie. On August 21, 1755 he was promoted to Captain. In this capacity he participated in the Lake George Campaign of the French and Indian War. There was a Private Thomas Champlin in this unit who must have been Joshua's son.

Matthew DuBois sued Joshua for 12pds/9sh/1d worth of unpaid "divers goods, wares & merchandise" purchased on November 28, 1752.

In July 1755, Joshua and three of his sons (Joshua, Elisha and William) were among the signers of the "Articles of Association." Every male resident (aged 16-60) was expected to sign this pledge, which was required by the Provincial Congress and the County Committee For Safety. Only about 2/3's of the men in Beekman did so and it became an early source of conflict between Loyalist and Patriot factions there.

The pledge read as follows:

"Persuaded that the Salvation of the Rights and Liberties of America, depends, under God, on the firm Union of its inhabitants in a vigorous Prosecution of the Measures necessary for its Safety; and convinced of the necessity of preventing the Anarchy and Confusion, which attend the Dissolution of the Powers of Government. We, the Freemen, Freeholders, and Inhabitants of the County of Dutchess, being greatly alarmed at the Avowed Design of the Ministry to raise a Revenue in America; and shocked by the bloody scene now acting out in the Massachusetts Bay, Do, in the most solemn Manner resolve, never to become slaves; and do associate under all the Tie of Religion, Honor, and Love to our Country, to adopt and to endeavor to carry into Execution, whatever Measures may be recommended by the Continental Congress; or resolved upon by our Provincial Convention, for the purpose of preserving our Constitution, and opposing the Execution of the several arbitrary and oppressive Acts of the British Parliament; until a Reconciliation between Great-Britain and America, on Constitutional Principles (Which we most ardently Desire) can be obtained; And that we will, in All things follow the Advice of our General Committee, respecting the Purposes aforesaid, the Preservation of Peace and good order, and the Safety of Individuals, and private Property."

Joshua was a "fence viewer" in Beekman in 1754 and a Constable there in 1756 and 1757. The records of the Court of General Sessions held May 17, 1757 on the case of the King vs Joshua Champlin include the following statement "The Grand Jury presented an indictment for breach and neglect of duty as a constable. On motion of Mr. Crannel....that he be suspended from he said office of constable. And that Arie B. DeLong be sworn as constable in said Champlin's place for the remainder of the ensuing year."

In 1758, Joshua was again appointed Constable and served as such in 1760 and 1763-1769. In October 1769, it was "Ordered that Joshua Champlin, one of the Constables of Beekman's Precinct forthwith cause the road to be opened over Peter Velie's and John Ways farms according as the same is laid out by the Commissioners and recorded." He was paid 1 pound/10 shillings at the Town Supervisor's meeting of June 1763 for having transported a vagrant. During the meeting of June 4, 1765, Joshua was awarded 1 pound, 10 shillings for having transported Barbara Bullis to Souderlains. During the meeting of June 2, 1767 Joshua was awarded 1 pound, 4 shillings for having transported Elizabeth Willis to New Fairfield.

Joshua took a lease in 1760 of a 111 acre farm on Lot 7, but did not keep it for long as by 1773 an Adam Stover had settled on it. This farm was located on the Pleasant Ridge Road, just north east of Poughquag village.

He was tax collector in 1761 and monitor at the annual precinct meeting in 1766.

In 1761, Joshua took a lease on a 100 acre farm in lot 6. His son, Joshua Jr. and Thomas Lee posted a bond for the back rents in 1782. Joshua Jr. paid two hogs as rent in 1783. Captain Joshua Champlin was referred to as the boundary on land in lot 6 sold by John Brill Jr. to Zacharias Flagler Sr. on October 9, 1786.

Joshua maintained an account at the Sleight Store in Beekman between 1767 and 1772 and with "Bennett's Dau." He also dealt with Merritt's Store on Quaker Hill in 1767 and charged to the account of P. Woodward.

Wife Bridget Champlin was a witness for Abigail Sprague of Beekman whose Will was dated October 17, 1770.

Joshua was recorded as being a Captain of an unidentified unit on August 18, 1777 and was in command of 112 men. On March 10, 1778 Joshua was appointed Captain of the Fifth Regiment of Dutchess County Militia. The regiment was under the command of Colonel Vanden Burgh. He resigned this position on October 20, 1779 and was replaced by Roger Morey of Beekman.

Robert G. Livingston sued Joshua in the October Court of 1781 for back wheat rents amounting to 220 bushels which he had failed to pay. The rental was for a "farm and appurtenances" in Beekman which had been rented for a 20 years at 11 bushels per year.

JEFFREY CHAMPLIN

*some references give his name as John Thompson

In the 1790 Census, Joshua and Bridget were enumerated at Beekman. Their household consisted of two males over 16 years of age and three females (no ages indicated).

577. James Rogers Champlin

[Jeffrey (1), William (2-3), Joshua (4), James Rogers (5)]

James Rogers Champlin, son of Joshua Champlin and Bridget Thompson, was born at Fishkill, New York on September 14, 1758 and died on March 13/18, 1840 at Bath, New York.

He received a Pension for his service during the Revolutionary War. On August 17, 1832 his nephew, Thomas Champlin of Cazenovia (Madison County) New York, testified there to a Justice of the Peace that James enlisted at the age of 15-16 years at Bateman (Dutchess County) New York and first served under Captain William Clarke, Lt. Benjamin Knox and Lt. Martin Cornwell (all of Bateman). In November or December, the Company marched to New York City -returning home the following April While in New York City, James was involved in the construction of fortifications around the city and on Governors Island. James was discharged but re-enlisted in time to participate in the Battle of Monmouth (1778).

On October 16, 1832 James (of Bath, New York) appeared in open court, "age 74 and upwards" to petition for a pension. He stated to the Court that he enlisted in December 1775 at Bateman, New York and served in Colonel Humphrey's Regiment. On October 1, 1776 James re-enlisted in the Militia for three months under Joshua Champlin - again in Humphrey's Regiment. They marched to White Plains, New York where they joined up with General Washington and fought in the Battle of White Plains that same month. James was discharged in January 1777 at White Plains.

He re-enlisted at Bateman for a five month stint in the spring of 1777 in a Company under Captain William Clarke. They marched to Poughkeepsie and remained there for five months "to keep the Tories quiet" after which he was discharged and returned to Bateman.

James re-enlisted for nine months in a Company commanded by Lt. French and it was with this unit that he participated in the Battle of Monmouth (New Jersey) in 1778 - during which he was wounded, by grapeshot, in the thigh.

After his final discharge, James continued to live at Bateman for about 20 years after which he removed to Claverock, New York. He stayed there for 4-5 years before removing to Locke (Cayuga County) New York. He left Locke for Bath (Steuben County) New York after 5-6 years.

James married Sarah (Sally) (-?-) c1774 according to their son Josiah. She was born on March 28, 1763 and died in Steuben County, New York on May 30, 1848. They had children:

757. Josiah (1792)

758. Allen (1799)

Sally and James resided with their son Josiah at Bath, New York from 1811 until their deaths. A number of depositions in his pension file refer to James' "numerous family" but children are listed as heirs in probate records.

On June 3, 1843, James' widow - Sally Champlin of Bath, New York, applied for a Revolutionary War Soldier's Widow Pension. She stated that James was living at Fishkill, New York when the Revolution began and that James had been in the Battle of Monmouth, New Jersey and had begun receiving a pension himself on May 9, 1834.

757. JOSIAH CHAMPLIN

[Jeffrey (1), William (2-3), Joshua (4), James (5), Josiah (6)]

Josiah Champlin, son of James Champlin and Sally (-?-), was born at Bateman (Dutchess County) New York in 1792 [1794 at Claverock (Columbia County) New York by Census records] and died at Bath, New York on March 16, 1857. He was a farmer.

In the Census of 1830, 1840, and 1850, Josiah was enumerated at Bath (Steuben County). In the 1850 Census, a person named Eli (age 37) was enumerated in Josiah's household. The Census described Eli as "idiotic".

Josiah married Amarintha Phillip who was born in 1825. According to the marriage certificate of their daughter, Sally Champlin, Amarintha's last name was Tobias - so she may have been married earlier to a man named Phillip. Amarintha was born in Steuben County in 1822. She was living at Savona (Steuben County) New York on August 22, 1866 when she gave a deposition confirming the marriage of daughter Valley to Mosley J. Moss.

Josiah and Amarintha had children:

- 13628. Valeria "Valley Marie" (1843)
- 13629. Sarah Maria "Sally" (1845)
- 13630. Mary Frances (1847)
- 5114. Josiah (c1849)
- 7527. James B. (1851)

Josiah's parents (James and Sally) took up residence in his home at Bath until their deaths in 1840 and 1848, respectively.

7527. JAMES B. CHAMPLIN

[Jeffrey (1), William (2-3), Joshua (4), James (5), Josiah (6), James B. (7)]

James B. Champlin, son of Josiah Champlin and Amarintha Phillip, was born in 1851 at Bath (Steuben County) New York and died June 1, 1913 at Romulus (Seneca County) New York. His body was returned to Bath and he was buried in the Tyrone Union Cemetery in nearby Schuyler County where I located his gravestone on July 15, 2000.

A stonemason by trade and a farmer, James married twice. In 1870, he married Sarah J. Fuller who had been born in 1856. He and Sarah had children:

- 13621. Ebenezer J.
- 13620. Dora E.
- 13622. Corie Mary
- 13623. Charles H.

The children were all born in Wayne (Steuben County) New York

In the 1880 Census, James(28), Sarah J. (24), Ebenezer (7), Dorie (5), Corie (2), Charles (7 months), and Frank Fuller (17) were enumerated together at Wayne. Frank Fuller was Sarah's brother.

James and Sarah divorced on April 3, 1884 with James retaining custody of the children. Sarah then married John Pulver. She died in 1930 at nearby Painted Post, New York and was buried in the Fairview Cemetery there.

In 1887, James married Mary (Merritt) Ackerman. Mary, daughter of Andrew Merritt and Mary Jane Guilford, was born in March 1860 and died at Richburg (Allegany County) New York in 1938. Before marrying James Champlin, she had been previously married to Samuel Ackerman with whom she had children:

13773. Elmer (b.Nov 1881)
12455. Parmley (b.Jun 1883) (D) Jan 1970
12456. Blanche H. (b.Apr 1885)

James and Mary (Merritt) Ackerman had children:

13624. James Edmund (1888)
13625. Josiah (1890)
13626. Horace Virgil (1891)
13627. Olive Ellen (1893)

James E. was born at Friendship (Allegany County) NY; Josiah and Horace at Windon, PA and Olive at Richburg, NY.

In the 1900 Census, James was enumerated at the Willard State Hospital in Romulus, NY where he was described as an "inmate." The rest of his family was enumerated in Richburg: Mary M. (born 3/1860), Parmley (6/1883), Blanche M. (4/1885), Edmund J. (3/1888), Josiah (8/1890), Virgil H. (1892) and Olive E. (5/93).

In 1915, James' family was enumerated at Dean Flats, Richburg, New York (Town of Wirt). The household consisted of:

- Mary J. Champlin, head (age 55) (widow of James E. Champlin)
- Edmond, son (27, roustabout) = James E. Champlin

- Erwin Ackerman, grandchild (6) } Mary J.'s son Parmley
- Neva Ackerman, grandchild (4) } Ackerman

James died of a brain cancer in the New York State Hospital at Romulus, New York where he'd been an inmate for at least 13 years, after having been a victim of sun stroke.

In the 1920 Census, the widow Mary (59 NY) was enumerated in Allegany County, New York with her brother, Andrew J. Merritt.

13625. JOSIAH CHAMPLIN

[Jeffrey (1), William (2-3), Joshua (4), James (5), Josiah (6), James B. (7), Josiah (8)]

Josiah Champlin, son of James B. Champlin and Mary (Merritt) Ackerman, was born on August 23, 1890 at Windon, Pennsylvania and died at Bolivar (Allegany County) New York on January 8, 1956.

In the 1900 Census, Josiah was enumerated with his mother at Richburg (Allegany County) New York.

Josiah married (1st) Nellie Enos on June 14, 1916 at Bolivar. They had seven children born at Bolivar:

13632. Ethel Mary (1917) (D) 1966
19873. Florence M. (1918) (D) 1920
13633. Josiah (1919) (D) 1928
13634. Francis Lorraine (1921)

13636. Lawrence Larue (1926)
13637. Shirley E. (1930) (D) at birth

All the children (except Lawrence and Francis) died tragically: Mary Ethel and her husband in a car crash on Francis' birthday; Florence is not mentioned after the 1920 Census and since most accounts of this family list six children, it is assumed that she died young; Josiah was run down by a car while still a child; Virginia was asphyxiated by a leaky gas stove; and Shirley died at birth.

Nellie (Enos) Champlin was born on February 23, 1897 at Red House (Cattaraugus County) New York and died on May 13, 1935 at Wellsville (Allegany County) New York. On August 30, 1992 my two daughters (Jessica & Kathleen) and I found the graves of both Josiah and Nellie in the Maple Lawn Cemetery at Bolivar, New York. Their separate stones read: Josiah Champlin (1890-1956) and Nellie Champlin (1897-1935). Kathleen and I returned to Maple Lawn on July 31, 1993. According to the cemetery map in the caretaker's office, Josiah and Nellie's daughters Virginia (died Jan 1942) and "baby" (died 1930) were buried with them in unmarked graves.

Nellie Enos was the daughter of Frank Enos who died on December 16, 1954 and Mary L. Burch who was born at Salamanca, New York on January 18, 1908.

In the 1920 Census, Josiah (29 Penn) was enumerated on North Main Street, Bolivar, New York with wife Nellie (21 NY) and children Ethel N. (2 NY) and Florence M. (1. NY).

Josiah married (2nd) Dora Baxter. At the time of this marriage, Josiah was a railroad track worker and later worked in the local oil fields.

In the 1920 Census, "Ethel M.", aged 2 years and 8 months, was enumerated with her parents on North Main Street at Bolivar, New York.
